

Nearly 9 in 10 respondents (89%) said that it was important to them personally that their elected officials work to make sure there is enough affordable housing available.

